LITERARY

LIFE AS A "P.K."

I have met many people over my few years of life who have commented on my unfortunate standing in society in a manner bordering on the ridiculous. Because many people have told me that I am very lucky to have a preacher for a father, my faith in human nature has been rudely shattered. Since there seems to be such an outlandish number of these faithful morons, I submit this poor outline of my paradise, commonly called home, to the public. Read this and judge for yourself.

In a home mission pastor's house, the day begins at seven or eight o'clock. The first thing you hear as you drift back from the peaceful recess of slumber, is a high shrill screaming "Nancy and Marilyn, if you don't cut out that fighting I will come in there and paddle you." Blessed silence while the clock ticks two seconds. "Mummy, Nancy hit me!" "I did not!" "You did so!" "I didn't!" "You did!" "Didn't!" "Shut up!", this from either me or my big sister. Again there is silence and you jump from bed so that you will be in time to beat the rush to the bathroom. Wow! Muttering to yourself, you jump back under the covers and slip on the socks you put under the pillow last night and wonder when you'll be rich enough to afford to keep the fire going all night. Softly you sneak out of your room and across the hall to the bathroom. Just as you reach the doorknob with a sigh of relief, a voice comes roaring out, "Mummy, Marilyn's got my toothbrush!" And the world goes round and round, and sisters will be sisters, and aw-nuts, they beat me.

Breakfast is unpredictable. In Elmsdale, P.E.I., we had a choice of dry cereal or warmed potatoes. Of course, we usually chose the potatoes, for after all, we were on "The Island." We would come tearing out of the rooms to the kitchen, if the house happened to be on fire. On the usual days, we dragged our weary bones to the table, shoved the chair underneath them, and let them fall. Then we would bow our sweet little heads to wait for my father to say "The Blessing!" We always said "The Blessing" in our house, ever since the day an evangelist was eating dinner with us and pulled a Boo--Boo. Padre asked him to say "Grace", and our rather tired evangelist promptly replied "Grace", then fell to eating. I thought that was rather smart, and said so. Padre took me out to the woodshed and brother, was I ever "smarter!"

Dinner times usually sounded like a crowd of Yankee fans right after Mickey Mantle had hit a home run in the 22nd inning of the seventh game of the 1967 World Series with the Fort Knox "Goldbergs". I thing I feel safe advancing the opinion that we would put "The Real McCoys" right out of business. Slams were the order of the day, every day of every year. Of course one must remember that we really didn't mean what we said. Now if I told my father to stick his head in the stove, I really didn't mean that. What I meant was that he should climb completely into the stove. However, that was how we all talked, so that eating the fried green tomatoes and molasses was more interesting.

During an ordinary day, we had a set schedule. Get up, eat, get bored, eat, go for a walk, eat, read or do crosswords, eat, and go to bed. Simple? Haw, that's what you think. I have yet to see an "ordinary day" at a parsonage. Someone is always inviting himself in for a visit and upsetting everything. Then you are called upon to act like a young lad who has nothing on his mind any heavier than being pleasant and talking religion, while in reality, you're on pins and needles waiting for a chance to get out and throw rocks at telephone poles and stray cats like any normal boy.

However, that is just one of the evils of being a Preacher's Kid, or "P.K.", as we are more commonly called. Most people think a "P.K." is the luckiest person alive. They think that we are quiet, emotional, (religiously), and well mannered. I have heard people comment on how lucky my folks were to have a little boy grow up in daddy's footsteps. I have heard others tell their children to play with the minister's son so they would learn how to behave like young gentlemen. And yet, let us make one false move, and whammo! Here it comes! "You might know he's the minister's son." "Just like a preacher's kid." What are you going to do? You just can't please them!

Actually, a "P.K." is just like any other kid. They just had the unfortunate luck to get stuck with a preacher for a parent. Believe me, it's no lucky life!

On the other hand, we do have our fun, and being a "P.K." will still open up a lot of doors. Girls especially. All you have to do is be careful and not give her your real name. She might recognize it, and if that happens, oh, oh.

I'll admit that parsonage life isn't usually dull. Like the time Padre was putting the hall floor down and he walked across the place he hadn't reached with his boards yet. There was "one-a great beeg splash". Down in the cellar was a cement floor. In the middle of the floor there was a hole, two feet square, with a couple of copper and lead pipes running down into it along one side. Padre was a good shot. I'll never forgive him though. He killed one of my pet bull frogs and swallowed one of my boats. The boat was just a piece of soap, but it must have been filling. He wouldn't eat for three days.

There were other little things too. I remember Padre warning me not to go into the attic, for there were no floor boards down. Two days later my mother was talking on the phone when suddenly she heard a crash from upstairs. She looked up at the ceiling above her and nearly fainted. He had done it again. Then a few days later we couldn't find the cat, but oh, could we hear her! Took us three hours, but we finally found her, right where my younger sister had put her to "bed" as she called it. The "bed" was a register and Nancy had put the kitten down into the pipes. Seems as though Patches, the cat, didn't take to the idea too well and set up a fuss. 'Course you couldn't blame her too much, for the furnace was going and had been for quite some time.

The little things like that make life interesting, but there is another side too. I've seen the time when the Padre had a $57 a month car payment, a $182 grocery bill, a $30 a month gas bill and a $50 Loan payment due. What made it rougher was that his $100 a month salary hadn't come in for two months and didn't arrive that month either. I still don't know how he managed, but he pulled through somehow.

That, roughly, is an outline of the "most fortunate children in the world's" existence. I have searched my own life in vain for something to fit that phrase. There is much more that I could say, both humorous and serious, concerning the life of this particular "P.K.", but neither time nor space permit it. So I leave you with this parting thought. Be it prince or pauper, there is no other life in this world that can compare with that of a "P.K." - thank the good Lord.

WHAT I HOPE TO GET OUT OF G.H.S.

"What do the words Gardiner High School mean to you when you say them? I know that everybody has his own ideas on what they mean to him. To me they mean four years of hard work and lots of fun. I know, because already I have learned a lot and had fun in the time that I have been in Gardiner High School.

A good education, knowing how to get along with my classmates and having fun with them, is what I want to get out of G.H.S. Being able to get a good job, doing a good job at my work and having the responsibility for doing a good job is also what I want to get out of G.H.S."

Linda Knight

"Gardiner High School means a place to learn things which will be useful to me later in life, and which will help to prepare me for college. I value this above everything else, because after all, getting an education is the greatest undertaking in a person's life." Robert T. Roper

I have many desires which G.H.S. can satisfy. I wish to be able to think clearly and speedily. I want to be able to read and interpret for myself, critically, what is false and what is true. I hope to overcome my fear of speaking in public through improving my enunciation and my command of good English.

I also hope to participate in sports for health's sake, and to increase my enjoyment of the games my father and family enjoy. If I were a boy, I'd be on every football and baseball team going. Our small rural schools have no such facilities as a gymnasium. Barbara Stilphen

"High School is a time of growth, both physical and mental, for young adults. I would like to widen my outlook on life, meet more people, make new friends, and learn to work together more peaceably with my fellow classmates. During high school I would also like to learn more about the teaching profession, which I am planning to follow in the future."
Estafaye Slosberg

"I hope to get an education which will last me a lifetime. I hope to obtain more knowledge about the world around me and also the people who live in it. I want to learn how to act and conduct myself in the proper manner. I expect to learn the meaning of responsibilities and how to solve problems like a mature person. I would like to achieve respect for others and for others to respect me. I expect to learn to obey laws which are supposed to be for my own good. I want to become a better informed citizen of the United States." Janet Arthur

"To me, Gardiner High represents a challenge to learn, a wondering expectancy of the future, and the pleasure and fulfillment that knowledge brings.

Each room, each teacher has a special meaning. Each day brings a new experience. In one room the joy of a lesson well prepared; in the next room the speculative anticipation of learning the answer to a seemingly unexplainable question; while in another room the disappointment of a low grade that could have been higher had a little more effort been put forth. These emotions combined are Gardiner High." Caroline Jamison

At Gardiner High students are friendly, and they make you feel that you really belong. It seems that here everyone has the companionship that he needs to become a wholesome person." Sue Kelley

---

"Gardiner High School means the most to me when I think of all the young people in Europe who don't have the chance for a decent education. Here I have the opportunity to get not only scholastic training but also fine athletic training, and preparation for good citizenship. This means a lot to me." Constance Grover

"I think Gardiner High is the place where the finishing touches will be put on my character; it is the place where I will reach maturity." John Jakubowycz

THE CHANGES I HAVE SEEN IN G.H.S.

"The changes which have occurred during the past three years have been numerous and rapid. In the beginning of our freshmen year, we heard the announcements read each day by our home-room teachers. Before the end of the year, we were able to hear them directly from the office over the new public address system, and in the same way we could listen to special assemblies when there wasn't room for the freshmen in the auditorium.

During our sophomore year, we gladly welcomed the Highway Safety Council and Tri-Hi-Y, and sadly accepted mid-years and finals." Nancy O'Mara Another change in Gardiner High is that those flunking a subject now get a weekly failure detention notice. If you get two or more failure slips, you cannot be in sports (or other extracurricular activities) until the next week."

Dan Dionne

"I have noted a change in the attitude of the average student since the introduction of a guidance director into G.H.S. Through him, I believe, we are beginning to realize the importance and necessity of our early consideration and decision as to the type of work we should plan for a livelihood. Before, the average student seemed to drift through the four years with no particular aim in view. With the aptitude tests and the personal counsel given by the director, our future plans have been given a jolt in the right direction, and we shall undoubtedly all benefit by it."
Linda Singer

"There have been changes without and within, in the appearance of our school. The walls were painted and the floors varnished during a summer vacation, and electric drinking fountains have been installed. We saw the design for a new school placed in the corridor, a definite step forward on this long-thought-of idea. We saw Cony finally claim the coveted boot, and we will keep fighting to recover it. Electric typewriters were recently purchased for the school. Gardiner High was evaluated for the first time; now both faculty and students are striving to meet the standards for accreditation."

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council takes part in a great many activities in the High School. Open House during Education Week was operated by the council. Members helped with the Sophomore Party and put on a very successful Freshman Reception and Snow Ball (we thought so anyway). The Winter Carnival was handled by the Student Council and we collected over $600.00 which will be divided between Charity and the School. We revised the constitution and bought a new amplifying system. These are only a few events that took place with the help of your Student Council.

As you can see, this school year was a busy one for us. We accomplished a lot, but we learned that we could have accomplished more if the students had let us know what they, themselves, thought. We hope that next year's Student Council, through the Students, can serve Gardiner High School even better.

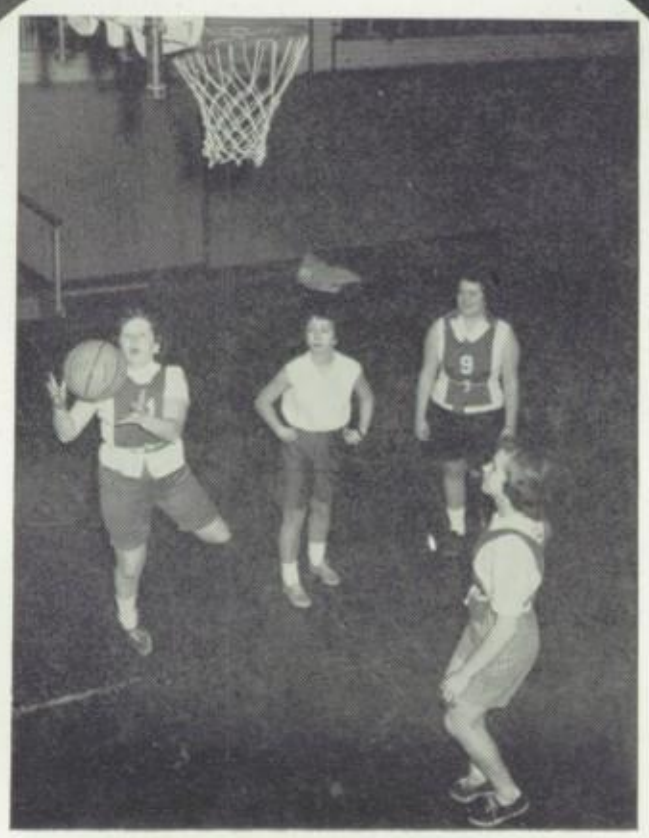
GIRLS' ATHLETICS

This year G.H.S. was fortunate in having Mrs. Jane Diplock return as girls' athletic director. The season began with a brisk competition in intramural volleyball. Although everyone benefited, the girls winning the championship were: A. McNally, L. Campana, D. Whitney, D. Leighton, B. Diamond, S. Dow, P. Pol leys, D. Glidden and L. Alexander.

The greatest interest of the season was shown in intramural basketball. The girls were placed on one of the following teams: The Hot Rods, Swishers, Hoopsters, Dribblers, Beginners, Travelers or Aces. The undefeated Hoopsters emerged the victors. Members were M. Abbott, D. Whitney, J. Rundstrom, J. Thomas, S. Bell, S. Santerre, P. Robinson.

Because of much improvement shown in the intramural games, tryouts for Varsity basketball were held. The following girls were chosen: A. McNally, M. Abbott, J. Thomas, J. Rundstrom, S. Santerre, B. Coombs, J. McAllister, J. Tisdale, J. Arthur, L. Marks, B. Diamond, J Edwards, S. Marriner, D. Albert. Because of its late start the varsity played only two games, beating Hallowell 26-21, only to be defeated in a scrimmage game against Cony 39-32.

This spring eighty-four girls are competing in a badminton tournament which will conclude the sports season for the girls. Athletic awards will be presented at an assembly in June. Along with the awards goes a knowledge of good sportsmanship and memories of enjoyable athletic competition.



GARDINER HIGH SCHOOL FOUNDATION CAKE

Combine approximately five hundred teenagers - healthy, American brand - and several teachers. Add interesting subjects with necessary homework. Measure a small amount of disobedience with a larger amount of obedience. Sift together proms, plays, parties, clubs, record hops, assemblies, and games. Add Cony and beat well. Blend in the essence of chalk and the stench of the chemistry lab. Last of all add good friends, fond memories, and a pinch of nostalgia. Bake in a big brick oven for 720 schools days at various temperatures. This recipe should yield about ten dozen well-rounded American citizens.

WHAT I HAVE LEARNED AT G.H.S.

This period has proven to be of greatest importance in that I have learned to work as an individual under the excellent guidance of my teachers, in competition with my fellow-students and for the good of my own future. My high school training has done much to develop me physically, mentally and socially. Most important this training has helped to build a firm foundation for my life's ambition.

Sherrill Turcotte

I have learned team work with the boys of the school under the athletic program. Also in this program I have learned how to be a good winner with a winning team and a good loser with a losing team.

SNOW BALL

The third annual Snow Ball was held on February twenty-first in the high school gymnasium. The dance, beginning at eight o'clock, was well attended and music was provided by Al Corey's orchestra. The crowning of the king and queen of the winter carnival was the highlight of the evening. At nine o'clock the candidates, two from each class, marched down the center of the gym floor to the thrones where the winners were announced and crowned by Mr. Stickney. The candidates were: from the senior class Lynne Belyea and Donna Colfer, the junior class, Max Good and Judy Stinchfield, the sophomore class, Joe Black and Shirley Brooks, and the freshman class David Harriman and Dawn Willis. Lynn Belyea and Dawn Willis were crowned and received gifts from the local merchants. The royal couple then led the grand march followed by the other candidates and the entire attending student body.

I have learned how to stand up for my own rights; not to be afraid of the teachers but to go to them for help when I need to. I learned that if I really wanted to get something out of high school I had to get it myself.

Kay Greenleaf

I don't think I could put on paper everything I have gained at G.H.S. because I have gained many things I don't even realize yet. I shall take from G.H.S. more than just a piece of paper saying I have graduated. I shall also take a lot of cherished memories.

MUSIC

The G.H.S. Band played at all the "home" games and most "away" games. Several rallies included or featured band selections. We also played at the Gardiner-Cony football rally on November 8.

The band, cheerleaders, and majorettes solicited money for tags in both October and May. The band also sponsored a dance on January 9. The funds were used to pay for instruments and music and to defray the cost of the band's trip to New York.

On Hallowe'en the band marched in the parade sponsored by the Gardiner Lions Club. Memorial Day the band played both in Gardiner and at Litchfield where we were served a delicious dinner. On May 16, Armed Forces Day, the band went to Waterville for Band Competition.

Mrs. Bond, again this year, permitted student conductors to take over part of the program. Andrea Gardner, Sandra Santerre, and Sylvia Harriman very well carried out this responsibility.

The Kennebec Valley Rehearsals and Concerts were held in Waterville and Madison, January 10, 17, 30, and February 7. Those attending were Gail Fish, Sally Pope, Sandra Santerre, band; David Potter, Louis Patrick, Cynthia Moulton, orchestra; Gay Nelson, Priscilla Leavitt, David Cone, chorus.

All State Music Festival was held at Bangor. Those participating were: Gail Fish, band; Cynthia Moulton, orchestra; David Potter, Henry Edwards, David Cone, chorus.

The band and all glee clubs attended Western Maine Music Festival Auditions at Lewiston, May 9.

The annual G.H.S. Spring Concert on May 21 featured selections by the band and glee clubs.

The Gardiner Lions Club is partially financing a trip, June 29 to July 1, for the band, majorettes, cheerleaders, and color guard to New York City for the Lions Club Parade.

"Take an Older Sister's Advice..."

"IT'S SMART to line up job interviews well in advance of graduation. And one of the best places I know to contact is the Telephone Company. Several of us from my graduating class are working here — and every one of us loves it."

Telephone jobs are important ones. We have our own training program which you can enter without any previous job experience. The pay is good, and you'll get regular raises.

Why not come and see our employment interviewer soon . . . before you graduate. Ask the Guidance Counselor at your school to tell you when and where to apply.
